Wainwright's Birthday Being Celebrated

ARRANGEMENTS COMPLETE FOR THURS. CELEBRATION

Big Day for All--Young and Old Alike

The Dominion Day parade (which incidentally also celebrates Wainwright's annual birthday) will start tomorrow (Thursday) morning sharp at 10:30 on Main street opposite the Star office and march north therefrom and behind the town band to the clock tower and thence east to the fair grounds.

All school children will be placed in grade groups, each headed by a standard-bearer, and at the grounds these will surround the platform where they will be welcomed by Mayor Middlemas and listen to patriotic speeches to be delivered by a couple of the older high-school pupils. These features will be given over the public address system so that all and sundry will be able to hear.

Of course, "O Canada" and the National Anthem will be sung by the assembly, accompanied by the band, following which the youngsters will be given treat tickets as in former years.

During the day sport lovers will find a whole raft of ball games, both senior and junior baseball as well as a number of games of ladies' softball. The youngsters will contest running races according to foot age, and prizes for the winners are all worth-while.

So far as can be learned there will be a number of floats entered by enterprising town merchants as well as decorated cars and other novelties in the parade, and the judges appointed to award prizes for these efforts may have a hard job of "picking winners".

Entries, to time of writing, in the senior ball league will include Irma, Amisk, Auburndale and Viking; and in the junior event Czar, Hardisty and Irma, with Wainwright entering a nine on both diamonds. The softball teams, too, of the whole district are all anxious to share in the prizes so that taken all in all it should truly prove a "big day for all".

Cars will be admitted free to the grounds all day, but must be parked

Robin's Nesting On Oil Derrick

Robins are noted for preference of habitations near human beings and the latest story to reach the Star is that a pair of these bright birds built their nest on one of the new oil derricks north of town. The nest is some forty feet above the ground and now has a husky bunch of fledglings in it. The little fellows are due for a long drop when they begin to fly.

Rain and Sunshine Make Good Gardens

Since the rains of last week, gardens in the district are providing their share of the daily food these days. Lettuce, radish and onions are becoming common fare, and we learn of a couple of families which have enjoyed garden peas. Beet greens and other vegetables are showing good growth and potatoes are beginning to flower.

Flower beds in some places are becoming beautiful and we know of one garden with sweet peas in bloom, and others have a regular riot of colorful flowers. An early blight on maples and caragana although possibly overcome, has spoiled their foliage in parts.

As noted elsewhere, Mrs. John Patterson of Greenhalgh is proudly showing a monstrous lemon practically ripe from her home-grown lemon tree, which is one of six fruits which it has borne this year.

Provincial M.H.O. Visits Local Hospital

A meeting was held on Saturday last, when the members of the Hospital Board in conjunction with the doctors using the hospital met Dr. Brathwaite of Edmonton, provincial medical health officer of Alberta.

During the course of Dr. Brathwaite's visit, a general discussion of matters important as to the operation of the hospital, and of the position of the officials and doctors as to the use of the hospital took place, and it was felt by all present that the meeting was well worth while.

CROP HELPED WELL BY HEAVY RAINFALL

Heavy rains swept the entire district last Wednesday and indications point to still more rain yet. Rain gauges at different points registered from 1 1/2 inches to 1 3/4 inches of precipitation. Rain commenced a deluge shortly after the noon hour and then settled down to a steady downpour for the remainder of the afternoon gradually getting lighter towards evening. Inter-mittent showers fell during the night. The entire district is jubilant over the rainfall which came just in the nick of time as crops were deteriorating quickly due to burning and lack of subsoil moisture. It was estimated that from Friday, June 18 to Tuesday, June 22 the crop had fallen from 90 per cent. average to a 70 per cent. average on a 10 year basis. The last rain of any consequence fell on June 9, but last week's fall saved the day to some extent.

Honor for Canadian Rail Chief

THE honorary degree of Doctor of Mechanical Engineering was conferred upon S. J. Hungerford, Chairman and President of the Canadian National Railways, by the University of Vermont at the 123rd Commencement of that institution held at Burlington recently. The University of Vermont was founded in 1791, the year in which Vermont was admitted to statehood.

The degree was conferred upon Mr. Hungerford by Guy W. Bailey, President of the University, in recognition of his notable work in restoring the Vermont Railway System after the great flood in that state in 1927. Honorary degrees were also conferred upon five distinguished American gentlemen. The photograph, taken on the campus before the opening of the ceremonies, shows Mr. Hungerford (left) chatting with President Bailey.

SOFTBALL GAMES SEE GREAT LOCAL ACTIVITIES AND FUN

There was plenty of action on the "softball field" during the past week when no less than five games were played, each attracting a large crowd of fans.

On Monday the C.N.R. team succeeded in turning back the Legion squad in a hectic battle with some of the old boys in action. Quite an innovation of this game was the substitute (young lad) runners which some of the more plump members were using.

Tuesday night, Clark's lusty clubmen succeeded in pulling out with a win over the newest team entered in the softball ranks--the Wainwright clerks. Unfortunately the game could not be completed as in the course of the heavy hitting, the bat was broken and the game ended with Clark's team in the lead.

Wins Double-Header The same evening the Power Gang without the aid of a few stalwarts, proved too much for Jack Patterson's Giants, and came out on the song end of a 38 to 12 score.

Resuming hostilities on Thursday night these two teams met again, when the Giants found it a tough assignment, for the Power Gang turned on the "power" and emerged victorious by a score of 23 to 7. (During the game some of the boys' faces were seen to drop a little when the result of the Louis-Braddock fight was learned!)

Giants--W. Cowley, M. Patterson, Grogan, Crosswell, Morton, J. Patterson, Sheffield, Lilly and Gehring. Clerks--M. Lilla, Woods, Walker.

Duke of Windsor To Become Squire

An agent for the Duke of Windsor in Birmingham, Eng., was said to have purchased a 100-year-old estate in Lincolnshire, leading to reports former King Edward VIII would go there to live after the echoes of his abdication have quieted.

The little haunt of Harlington, Lincolnshire, was excited by rumors its former King will be its new squire within a year or so. Harlington Hall lies near the residence of Lord Brownlow, a close friend of the Duke, and is located in hunting country, only a few miles from Melton Mowbray.

TRUCK LICENSE REVENUE SHOWS 'BIG INCREASE'

Revenue from truck licenses for April and May amounted to $277,708, compared with $257,185 for the first five months of 1936, according to provincial figures now made available. Change in the license year is largely the cause of the increase.

As in the case of passenger cars, truck owners who turn in their plates at the end of the year will be given a 20 per cent. license rebate.

Reports by Mr. Manning, provincial secretary, show that in April and May this year passenger car registrations in this province numbered 68,227, while 12,374 truck licenses were taken out. Number of annual drivers' licenses issued was 83,308.

QUEBEC HAS ALL CANADIAN ZOO

A thousand wild creatures, representing 96 Canadian species and forming one of the most interesting zoological collections have been gathered together in the new and picturesque Quebec Zoological Gardens at historic Charlesbourg, some seven miles from the provincial capital. One or more of almost every animal, bird or fish in Canada can be seen here, says a writer in the June issue of C-I-L. Oval--from polar bears to porcupines, pelicans to cormorants, salmon to snakes. One of the greatest difficulties, experienced by the director and his staff was in the proper feeding of mountain sheep and moose whose food requirements differed with the seasons. Finally a diet of marsh hay, a mixture of grains and alfalfa, and phosphated salt.

One of the most interesting features was the arrival of the Quebec Zoo occupies at the present time 30 of a site of 75 acres which has been described by a Berlin zoologist as one of the finest of its kind in the world.

Quite a big success was the outdoor sale which was conducted on Saturday last by the ladies of the United Church.

LONDON--Prime Minister Macdonald King left London last week for Paris, where he will open the Canadian pavilion at the 1937 exposition on July 2.

Before his train pulled out the premier told the press: "In the past few weeks we've truly been made to feel that we are all members of one family visiting one another and take away with us the happiest memories."

"The coronation and the Imperial conference combined to make 1937 a memorable year in the history of the British Commonwealth. Events of recent weeks revealed how sincere is our readiness to work with other nations in maintaining peace."

The prime minister will sail from Cherbourg, France, on July 3 for Canada.

BANK CROP REPORT SAY PROSPECTS FAIR

In the prairie provinces hot weather has caused rapid growth of grain crops in regions where moisture reserves are adequate but there are large areas in which rain is urgently needed. The lack of adequate rainfall to date has resulted in deterioration of crops in central and west central Saskatchewan and over a large part of Alberta. Crops in other parts of Canada both east and west heavy rains have been general and growth has been rapid, although crops are still somewhat backward.

In Quebec prospects on the whole are favourable. In Ontario grain and roots are doing well and cutting of heavy hay crop has begun. In the Maritime Provinces rain has so delayed operations that in a few localities seeding is not yet completed, but growing crops are progressing satisfactorily. In British Columbia grain and root crops are in promising condition but heavy rains have so seriously damaged early straw-berries that much of the crop is suitable for jam only. In Alberta crops generally are deteriorating from lack of moisture. Wheat is heading out short and pastures are poor in an sections except the south where pastures are good and crops continue promising, following fairly general heavy rains. The outlook is bright for irrigated crops, and beet thinning is completed. In Saskatchewan, crop conditions show wide variation. In the east central and northern districts, where rain has fallen, prospects continue good. In other sections crops have deteriorated rapidly due to hot dry weather except in a limited area in the southeast where recent rains have been beneficial. Cereals and roots are required, immediately. Pastures are dry. In Manitoba, hot weather is forcing growth rapidly and, on the whole, the condition of all crops is satisfactory. Pastures are in good condition.

Musical Maniacs Astaire-Rogers

This new film featuring the already highly established team of Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, which has danced, clowned and sang its rhythmic way into the respected annals of box office history, is coming to the Elite theatre for three days this week-end.

For sophistication, new and catchy music, artistic dancing, sparkling comedy and dialogue and general excellence of production, "Swing Time" unfolds with a synchronized rhythm surpassing all Astaire-Rogers vehicles to date.

"They are new, fresh and invigorating," Victor Moore brings a different and laughable characterization to the screen in his comic role as a scintillating maestro of legions.

Helen Broderick as his team mate in comedy gives her usual without overdone as the picture's delicious dance master appears briefly, but garners a substantial number of laughs which leave the audience wanting more.

"Swing Time" literally sparkles in its brightness.

2nd Derrick Now Rising for Alberta

The second big derrick for the Alberta Gas & Exploration Ltd., is now being erected on the site chosen in 35-47.

This material is now practically all on the lease and the structure rising rapidly. Within a couple of weeks possibly, the big works will commence making hole down to the liquid gold.

TODAY & TOMORROW

by
Frank Parker
Stockbridge

FLORIDA is a year round state. In the course of the past few weeks I have traveled, mostly by motor-car a couple of thousand miles around the state of Florida. In the ten years since I have visited Florida, tremendous changes have taken place. Florida is no longer a "boom" state, but is building on the solid foundations of agriculture and industry, into what is destined to become one of the nation's greatest commonwealths.

There are 2½ million permanent residents in Florida. There is room for ten times as many without crowding. Florida is still a pioneer state. Only a fraction of its natural resources have yet been developed. I know of no part of America where such opportunities await young men who have the American pioneer spirit as in Florida.

And, all things considered, I know of no part of our country where living conditions are, on the whole, so comfortable and so healthful, or where one can live so cheaply the year around.

FISHING alligators. Did you who read this ever hook a ten-pound black bass? If you are a fisherman and want the thrill of your life, come down to Florida and cast your line into any of the ten thousand fresh-water lakes. Ten-pounders are commonplace. I have seen hundreds of fifteen-pound bass weighing up to fifty pounds, caught in Florida's inland lakes. We hear a lot about the big game sea-fish, tarpon, sailfin, tuna and others, but little about the fresh-water fishing of Florida which is hard to beat anywhere, and costs nothing for the ordinary citizen to enjoy.

It is hard to find a spot in Florida that is more than a couple of miles or so away from good fishing. You drive right to the fishing grounds over smooth, hard-surfaced roads.

They tell me that it's the alligators that make bass fishing so good. The 'gators eat the gars and other fish which prey on the young bass. Florida has just passed a law at the behest of the sportsman for the protection of alligators!

CATTLE—breeding in Florida. If cattle-raising is not Florida's largest industry, it comes close to it. One doesn't have to go West to find the open range and the cowboy. On the great plains of southern and western Florida millions of cattle graze under conditions much like those of the Old West. At Kissimmee I saw cowboys complete with tattered hats, flannel shirts and "chaps" and with "six-guns" slung on the hip, just like the movies. One ranch near there runs 50,000 head. They are breeding up the Florida cattle into better beef grades. The Brahma bulls, imported from India, have helped develop immunity to the Texas fever tick, and crosses of the old Spanish stock with Herefords, Angus and other beef breeds are bringing Florida cattle into the high-grade class.

Proof of that is the fact that the great Chicago packing houses are building abattoirs and packing houses in Florida.

HITS—More men go bareheaded in Florida than anywhere else I have ever been. The Florida sun is hot—no denying that. In summer the thermometer rises to higher ranges than Northern folk would think bearable. But Florida men go around bare-headed and nobody over has sun-stroke! Of course, if a man has no hair on his head, that's another matter. As a great medical authority once wrote, the only way to prevent baldness is to avoid having baldheaded grandparents. I've never been able to figure out just why one can work under the Florida sun and not feel the effects of the heat, but it's true. "There's always a breeze in the shade" is an old Florida saying.

One of the best small colleges in America, John B. Stetson University at Deland, Florida, was founded by a famous hat manufacturer. I called on the president of Stetson, and found that neither he nor the faculty and students wears a hat!

ORANGES—Florida orange and grapefruit growers are getting their industry organized and are doing better than they used to in the face of California competition. One of the problems of the citrus industry which has been solved in the past few years, is to make orange juice, grapefruit juice and grapefruit pulp available everywhere the year round.

I went through the largest citrus cannery in Orlando. They can the grapefruit itself, its juice and orange juice, and then from the pulp extract an essential oil which sells for $16 a pound and from the residue left over manufacture an oil-cake for cattle feed, which is said to be very popular with the young stock.

The latest is a breakfast "cereal" made from orange peel. I was surprised to find that I liked it!

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

CRIPPLING OF CHILDREN (No. 2)

The main causes of crippling in children, as indicated in a former article, are tuberculosis (either human or bovine), infantile paralysis and rickets. A limited number of cases are due to accidents.

Infantile paralysis causes crippling because of the injury done to the muscles involved in the paralysis. In some cases the paralysis is extensive. In others it is moderate and confined to a small group of muscles. In others again, the initial paralysis may completely clear up under a treatment and the crippling be ascertained or be temporary.

In the prevention of crippling from this affection much depends on the early treatment. This should be limited to securing the comfort of the child, to the maintenance of good position of the limb involved, and to the prevention of deformity. Active treatment by massage, exercise, manipulation or electricity should be withheld as long as any soreness of the surface remains. Soreness of the muscles means that the inflamed spinal cord, the real seat of the affection, is still susceptible of irritation. Rest is the real need of the victim of paralysis in the early stage. Active treatment belongs to the more convalescent period when swimming, or under water movements, electricity, massage, occupational therapy and manipulation by the trained surgeon have their place. Rickets still claims a place in the crippling of children but the affection is disappearing in the face of public health education. The causes of rickets are improper feeding of infants and too little sunshine.

In addition to a good standard diet, the mother should have cod-liver oil during pregnancy. It will help if she also has sea fish twice a week. The use of cod-liver oil in pregnancy is now a routine practice. The rickety child improves wonderfully if given two to four teaspoons of cod-liver oil or its equivalent of viosterol, daily, in the fall, winter and spring months. The ultra-violet rays of the sun take the place of cod-liver oil and viosterol in the interval from May to September. These remedies prevent the loss from the body of the calcium and phosphorus which serve to build up good bones and enduring teeth.

Accidents are due to lack of care, the taking of chances and in some instances to over-indulgence in alcohol. The result of accidents are minimized to a high degree by skillful surgery.

The World of Wheat

H. G. L. Strange,
Director, Research Department,
Searle Grain Company, Ltd.

"The custodians of quality in Canadian crops."

This would be an accurate description of those many important people and bodies who together form the Canadian Seed Growers' Association.

The ability to market Canadian wheat, for instance, on World's markets, and the price medium which it usually commands, are the results almost alone of that characteristic termed "strength" or "quality."

Wheat quality, in turn, is a matter of a highly bred particular variety.

A highly bred particular variety is the production of skilled, professional plant breeders. But the precious small handful of seed which, after years of labor and toil, the plant breeders produce, would obviously be valueless if distributed to thousands of farmers.

The members of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, with patient care and application, and under the supervision of the Association itself, and of many Government Officials, multiply these precious handfuls of seeds into thousands of bushels which retain almost the same high quality as the original handful, and then make it all available to farmers at moderate prices.

The service thus rendered by the members of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, is not only important, but can well be said to be a vital necessity to Canadian agriculture.

Following factors have tended to raise prices—Lack of rain in southern Saskatchewan and in Argentina —Reduction in the U.S. Government winter wheat estimate—Heat wave in Manitoba—Anticipate lowest Canadian "carry-over" for past twelve years—U.S. Department of Agriculture forecasts poor European wheat and rye harvest—Expect Chinese wheat crop is 15 to 25 per cent below 1936.

Following factors have tended to lower prices—Bountiful to fair rains in Manitoba—South American wheat crop in U.S. spring wheat territory—Cuba increasing pineapple production—Large European fruit crop in prospect.

MODERN WOMEN

CHARL ORMOND
WILLIAMS

President of National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc.

Prizes for needlework exhibited at the Golden Jubilee Exposition in South Africa have been awarded to Mrs. Edward Chalken of Pittsburgh, Pa. Mrs. Chalken was born in Russia and came to America when a young girl. Her husband received the late Czar's praise. Among the latest pieces of embroidery of which she is now immensely proud are portraits of the Duke and Duchess of Kent and President Roosevelt.

The married woman has a right to work if she wants to, is the declaration of Judge Jennie Lottman Barron, special judge of a Massachusetts district court, who has come to the defense of the wife who is employed. "No woman works in a factory unless she is forced to," Judge Barron, formerly assistant to the State Attorney General, said. "Artists should not cease to work because they marry, and the same is true of the women in the professions."

The Pan-Pacific Women's Association will hold its fourth biennial conference in Vancouver, B.C., July 12 to 14. The association's objective is "practical ways and means of promoting peace and international understanding among the women of the Pacific countries." Miss Mary Bollett dean of women at the University of British Columbia, is chairman of the Canadian section of the association.

Poetry contests for patients in New York City hospitals have been started by a group of Barnard College students under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Reynard of the English department. Patients will be invited to write short stories of five to six lines. Prizes will be awarded every fortnight and a committee of Barnard will examine the manuscripts. Miss Reynard says that several doctors and psychiatrists are enthusiastic for the project especially as it will give patients something to occupy their minds.

Collecting spiders is more than a hobby with Mrs. J. B. Kaston of New Haven, Connecticut, who has assisted her husband, Dr. Kaston, in getting together more than 10,000 specimens, some of them alive. Included among the specimens are species of the tarantula and the black widow. The spiders are in the Agriculture Experiment Station and the collection was made at the request of the state entomologist. Not all the spiders are natives of Connecticut. The collection will serve in making the first thorough study of spiders of that state.

Known as the mother club of Southern women in New York, the Dixie Club, whose new president is Mrs. Charles Dixie Farman, has a philanthropy at its own. The Dixie Aid which provides layettes not only to the Frontier Nursing Association, but to St. George's Church Clinic, Flower Hospital and other institutions in New York.

Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt, president of Mills College, California, has announced that she and the trustees want one million dollars in funds for the college to enable them to maintain a choice assortment of prospective home makers. The college authorities say that "almost all Mills girls marry and marry very well."

That decorative art for which the Gobelins ateliers have long been famous is being reproduced here by Shiva Asubel who is the first artist of the WPA Federal Art Project to weave such tapestry. Miss Asubel is an American who learned the technique in the Gobelins factory in France. When finished the tapestry, which is being copied from a painting called "A New English Family," will be hung in a public school.

It will tell you how you stand in respect to your subscription to The Star. We do not rely on the task of con-

If you are in arrears the sum may seem insignificant to is difficult to carry on these necessary to remind our read-

The Family
Doctor

By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

I enjoyed a short fishing trip on the Ogish River some time ago.
This stream, in its course which winds among the Ozark Hills of Missouri, is most fascinating in its setting of rugged beauty. The doctors in the neighborhood were primitive and physicians were evidently few and far between; the simple folk had learned to do their "doctoring" themselves.

A lad of twelve visited our camp often. He was barefoot, save for a sleazy rag that partly covered a flaming-red ankle and heel. He limped a bit painfully, but said he didn't mind it much; the member was swollen quite a bit.

"What's the matter with your foot—stone-bite?" was asked.

"None... snake-bite," he replied indifferently.

"What sort of snake?" I enquired.

"Copperhead. Lots of 'em in the brush and rocks here."

"What did the doctor do to you when you were bitten? Did he give you serum?"

"Never had no doctor; anybody can cure snake-bite with 'curochrome.'"

He exhibited plain contempt, I thought, when he heard the suggestion of a doctor for a little thing like the bite of a copperhead! One of the most deadly-venomous of serpents!

There is nothing that fills me with horror more than the bite of a rattlesnake or copperhead. I'm sure if I were ever a victim, I would before they ever cranked the Ford to go get a doctor! Yet here was a very young man without a particle of fear; he would have dreaded a bee-sting worse.

In the event of snake-bite, cord the limb above and phone for your doctor—quick. You've done your duty at last.

FERTILIZERS NO LONGER
JUDGED BY THEIR SMELL

Long ago our "rude forefathers"

on the land became manure-conscious and began to measure their worldly wealth by the size of the carefully conserved pile in the barnyard. That was before the dawn of the 19th century and the realization that something besides manure was needed for the maintenance of soil fertility. Bone was the first supplement, and crushed bones brought phosphate in slowly active form, to plant up partly for the lack of this plant food in manure. Next came guano from Peru, excreta and remains of distinctly defunct sea-fowl, a foul-smelling stuff that proved a "knockout" as a fertilizer, and some still live who whiffed it.

The year 1843 marks the birth of superphosphate in England the "Disruption of the Kirk" in Scotland and the advent of guano in that rugged country. "Johnny Gibb of Gushet Neuk," a Doric classic and tale of those times, records that Peter Birse of Clinktyle, on his way to church one

Sabbath morning, tarried at a neighbor's to inspect the "new manure" and rashly carried away a sample in his pocket. His son and romance are entwined with the growth of the fertilizer industry; now many-drum-half was to be added, for Peter's bethe-half was a veritable virago whose fury on this occasion knew no bounds.

The odour of guano, which was doubtedly odious to church, was regarded as evidence of virtue by the farmer of the 19th century, who was literally led by the nose in appraising the value of fertilizers and did not realize that the odour signified the escape of ammonia from the decomposed matter in the soil, yielding up to the growing crops its stores of phosphate and nitrogen, and there is probably no truth in the statement that crops grow up quickly in order to get away from the stench! One is reminded, too, of the fertilized meadow patch in which the vines grow so rapidly they were melons down by dragging them around!

The high grade fertilizers of modern times are practically odorless, being based with superphosphate, processed, blended and cured with the skill and science of long experience, and they are more effective than the guano of fragrant memory.

GRANULAR FERTILIZERS BEST

During recent years research chemists have devoted much study to the proper placement of fertilizers in the soil and have shown the advantage of their application in concentrated bands or strips readily accessible to the roots of the growing crop. Besides being more available positionally the fertilizer constituents are not exposed to the rapid fixing action of strong acid rains, which happens when the fertilizer is broadcast. Based on the same principle is the more recent discovery that fertilizers prepared in granulated form resist fixation of their phosphate and potash by the soil, yielding these up gradually in solution to the growing plants. Furthermore, granulated fertilizers flow freely,

so evenly and provide for uniform nurture and ripening of the crop.

TIME OF YEAR TO

WATCH SUN TAN

Sun worship reaches back to prehistoric times. Each race had its own sun god. The Greeks called on Apollo; the Persians to Mithras and the ancient Egyptians to Ra. The instinct of ancient peoples in regard to the health value of the sun was universal. There is no doubt of the beneficence of the sun's rays when properly used, but these rays may be a two-edged sword.

One feels more cheerful on a sunny day than if the sky is overcast or the rain falling in torrents. Sunlight is essential to vegetation. It is almost essential to health. The ultraviolet rays of the sun have a profound effect on many foods. Fats and oils, which, either artificially or through nature have been activated by sunlight, protect the user against the disease known as ricketts. The exposure of the skin to sunlight or to the ultra-violet light of proper wavelength acts on the epidermis in one's skin and prevents the waste of calcium and phosphorus that might otherwise occur. The preservation of these elements of bone formation aids in the prevention of ricketts. The use of cod-liver oil has a similar effect because cod-liver oil is really bottled sunshine.

Some of the bone and skin results of tuberculosis are improved by the ultra-violet rays of the sun if those are properly applied.

Within recent years young men and women have sought a tanned

ADVERTISING

POVERTY

It will be a marvelous thing if the prediction made lately by Harry I. Hopkins, U.S. Federal Works Progress Administrator, comes true. Mr. Hopkins said, in an address at Teachers College, New York:

"I expect to see the day, and it won't take more than 20 years, when the Government sees to it that one-third of the population which is at present insufficiently clothed and fed will have a decent living standard. We have just made a beginning."

He added that "it is going to cost plenty," and that the cost will "come out of the hides" of those earning more than the average income. Everybody would like to see poverty abolished, but not everybody will agree that the way to do it is to take from the able to give to the less able. There is danger in reducing the competent to a state of near-poverty. What would seem to be the safe way to bring about a more equitable distribution of wealth would be to produce more wealth. Instead of talking about "taking out of the hides" of some particular class for the benefit of another class, it would be wiser for men holding high places of public power to be talking about encouraging those who control the machinery of production and produce enough more commodities so that nobody would have to go without.

That is the process by which America has made its people—all of them—wealthier than the people of any other nation in all history.

TAX THE ## TAX EATERS

Is there any good reason why a man who draws his income from the public funds should not contribute his due share to the support of the government which supports him? We know of none; yet the U.S. Congress has exempted from the Federal income tax not only most employees of the Federal government but all who draw their pay from state and municipal governments, while the state governments exempt Federal salaries from tax.

Is there something so sacred about a public office that the person who holds it is not like other men, but entitled to special consideration, because of his position? It has never until lately been so considered in America. The people who are supported by taxes are, or should be, the servants of the taxpayers, not their rulers, set apart from the common herd.

The number of government employees is steadily and rapidly increasing. Federal, state and local. There are at least three million tax-eaters. Not all receive large enough salaries to bring them under the present income-tax provisions, but the time is inevitably coming when the income tax exemption will have to be lowered if funds enough are to be found to keep the machinery of government running. Why should not the taxpayers take the same medicine as the rest of us?

A BIG NEW

INDUSTRY

More than five hundred different concerns are engaged in the newest of America's major industries, that is air-conditioning. The means of so building and equipping houses, offices, factories, stores and theatres that the temperature and humidity can be controlled at all seasons and under any weather conditions, has at last come out of the experimental stage and become a practical reality of everyday application.

It is in about the stage in which the automobile was when Mr. Ford turned out his first "Model T" thirty years ago. It will be years before an air-conditioned home will be as much a necessity for every family as an automobile is today; but it is pretty nearly a certainty that that time will come.

As with automobiles increased production will bring costs down. Today only the fairly well-to-do can afford to equip their homes with air-conditioning devices but in a not far distant tomorrow a house not so equipped will be regarded as out of date and fit only for the very poor to live in.

Permanent prosperity is brought about through the successive development of new industries. Air-conditioning is the largest and latest of these and holds unlimited possibilities for America's future prosperity.

In The Mail Bag

AT LEAST AN

HONEST OPINION

The Editor: Dear Sir—I trust that you will find space in your valuable paper to publish these comments of an ardent Alberta stockman and tourist.

I have always been interested in the wild life of Western Canada and in our National Parks, and have toured them extensively. Our Parks especially, have been extremely advertised to the motoring public, catering to the tourist especially. Hearing thus about the Wainwright Park and its large herd of buffalo and elk myself and an official from the Yellowstone Park motored north.

In travelling through the Park we must have seen fully three thousand buffalo grazing on some hills by a large lake and also ran into a hundred or so of beautiful elk, obtaining some wonderful snaps. To see these animals ranging free on the open prairie certainly was a great sight and fully compensated us for our slow and bumpy ride through the Park.

The cattalo, while interesting, like a side show of freaks in a circus" did not appeal to us. For this misguided human endeavor to better Nature's work seems only to have left in your Park a bunch of sterile hybrid atrocities, of no use to themselves or any possible use to the Canadian taxpayer, who ultimately has to foot the bill of this undoubtedly expensive and obsolete experiment. At least they should be kept out of sight of the tourist, as they are inclined to give the average person the impression that your whole wonderful herd of buffalo has been contaminated by cross breeding.

After being used to good road conditions in our other Parks, we were struck forcibly by the apparent neglect of any road maintenance throughout the Park; they are simply terrible and it is impossible to travel over ten or fifteen miles per hour on parts of the so-called main road. They are atrocious, some of it being worse than any old oil trail of the 50's and this is 1937.

Any tourist trying this road once would turn back disgusted and tell all his friends to keep away.

Then again there seems a general apathy to the visitor or tourist's comfort or accommodation, both in the Park and in Wainwright. Some of your storekeepers could give us only vague and disinterested information about your district and Park.

WAINWRIGHT SCHOOL BOARD,
30-4 per G. T. STEEL, sec-treas.

The Town of Wainwright with its wonderful Buffalo and elk herds and its oilfields, etc., is sitting on the edge of a potential gold mine, if it would only encourage the tourist.

Your Board of Trade, your local Member, the Park authorities—all show a great lack of initiative and good citizenship by their glaring neglect in not encouraging the tourist and general public to your Park and district.

So make up, Wainwright, and get after the proper authorities. You have a wonderful buffalo herd, a wonderful town and district, but your roads are TERRIBLE.

A TOURIST.

CHURCH ATTENDANCE

With the summer season approaching, church attendance is bound to decrease, says Editor "Gau" Dobbie, of the Smith Falls Record-News.

The thought inspired him to make the following unusual reference: This is the way the church sometimes looks to the pastor when he goes into the pulpit! Just as a pastor would just as a wood-glide as to engrave benches. There is no inspiration in vacant pews!

THIS IS THE WAY YOU GOUGHT TO LOCALITY SERVICE AND WILL BE REGENERATED HIS PART BY COMING IN HIS SELF AND BRINGING A FRIEND OR RELATIVE TO OURS. WOULD BE A BETTER SALARY (777) WE PAID THEM FOR BEARING THE BURDEN OF THE TRUTH. WE WOULD BE A BETTER PREACHER. ESTO HIDE EMPTY TERN. CHES WITH PEOPLE.

Joe Louis is New
Champ H'vyweight

Joe Louis, Chicago's chocolate bar with the dynamite filling, became world's heavyweight champion last week, when he knocked out James J. Braddock in one minute and ten seconds of the eighth round of their championship bout. Louis at the age of 22, is the youngest man ever to become world's heavyweight boxing champion, and is the second negro to hold the title, Jack Johnson having been the first. The fight took place at Comiskey Park, Chicago, home of the White Sox, before a crowd of about 60,000.

Although Louis was knocked down in the first round he was quickly on his feet again. The Brown Bomber's left hand punished the champion throughout the fight and paved the way for the knockout blow in the eighth, a hard right-hand drive to the jaw following a barrage of lefts and rights. Braddock's left hand was also his best weapon but the powerful right that laid Max Baer low was ineffective against Louis whose boxing skill carried him out of the champion's reach and caused Braddock to miss repeatedly.

Braddock fought a courageous but the first round was described as the greatest since Dempsey fought Flippo.

It is reported that Maxie Schmeling and Tommy Parr (the Welsh wonder), British Empire champion, have signed for a bout in London to take place in August or September.

Mr. O. W. Murray is arranging to attend the summer school at the university as soon as school closes. Mr. Thompson will be in the city also marking exam. papers for the department.

Redemption may be effected by payment of the full amount of all arrears of taxes and costs, at any time prior to the sale.

Rocky Mountain Holidays

The busiest tourist season in years is in store for the Canadian Rockies. Banff Springs Hotel and Chateau Lake Louise, recently opened for the year, are enjoying mid-season popularity, while increasing numbers of visitors are planning holidays at the beautiful chalet-bungalow camps at Moraine Lake, Lake O'Hara, Lake Wapta, Yoho Valley, and Radium Hot Springs.

Attention is such as golf on the sporty championship course at Banff, riding and hiking over spectacular mountain trails, tennis on splendid courts, boating on glacial lakes, and other sports under ideal conditions make the Canadian Rockies Canada's leading summer playground. Add to this scenery unexcelled in the world, excellent fishing, and endless opportunities for camera hunting of big game and the result is Banff, Lake Louise, or any of half a dozen Canadian Pacific bungalow camps set in valleys or by lakes of outstanding beauty.

The car ran on to the sidewalk and struck a young mother wheeling her baby in a carriage. The baby was killed and the mother was so badly injured that her leg had to be amputated. The jury awarded $12,000 damages against the owner of the car. You can't afford to own a car if you can't afford insurance. Accidents to persons can be covered up to $50,000 for $12 per year. ## Short Course in Music at Varsity Viggo Kihl, whose summer course in music opens on July 19th at the University of Alberta, is known throughout Canada as a master pianist and a teacher of wide experience. Mr. Kihl has toured Europe as a concert pianist and was very successful in London where he played for some years, appearing frequently in the Royal Albert Hall and the Crystal Palace as soloist with some of the largest orchestras.

Born in Copenhagen, Denmark, he was only fifteen years of age when he was admitted to the Royal Conservatory at Leipzig, where he studied under the famous Teichmüller and other famous masters. Since that time this eminent Danish pianist has made a name for himself in many countries. Viggo Kihl's technical skill is great, but it is his fine musical scholarship and something that is much more precious and which cannot be attained by mere technical proficiency—the gift of a largeness of soul which expresses itself in his playing of the great masters—that creates such enthusiasm in his audiences wherever he goes, and causes his students at the Toronto Conservatory to be almost overwhelming in their praise of his teaching.

It is with this master that teachers and students of music will have an opportunity to study, for the last two weeks of July. There will be lectures on the Art and History of Composition, illustrated with practical examples; demonstrations of tone production and technique; and the opportunity to hear many of the great masterpieces played by an artist who excels in interpretation.

Mr. Kihl discusses with the class the work of each of the masters in turn. These periods each day are an inspiration to both professional teachers and laymen, and those attending these classes will receive a fresh stimulus to the mind and imagination as well as much practical help in solving teaching and performing problems.

The course is sponsored by the University of Alberta, and full information may be obtained from the Department of Extension. Students are urged to enroll at once.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Chynoweth spent several days in Edmonton last week.

The Legion Notice Board

The unexpected happened. We had a man requesting assistance on his way to Edmonton who had been promised employment under the probational training plan, with the Swift Packing Company. This is at least some evidence that the scheme is working. Frankly we were of the opinion that although it might help a few veterans in the thickly populated manufacturing east, its value was practically nil west of the great lakes. The Legion softball team is going strong. Up to now they have not been beaten fairly. The score shows a defeat but that was owing to our two starkest ball players—both members of the executive committee of this branch of the Legion—playing on the opposing team. However, we understand this may be remedied in future and anyway, we are prepared to challenge any team within a hundred miles for money, nuts, or marbles, providing of course, they produce a team of approximately equal weight and substance. What I do know is that the last two games have just about foudered this scribe.

MAN-MADE RUBBER IS CHEMISTRY'S LATEST

Rubber from coal, limestone, salt and water? Sounds incredible yet it is true. The chemist has produced it and it has already demonstrated in superiority for certain industrial uses over natural rubber. A writer in the current issue of C-I-L, Oval describes how the new rubber, Neoprene, unlike natural rubber, resists the deteriorating effects of sunlight, heat, oil, acids and gases. Cable manufacturers are using it to insulate electric wires and cables because it will resist flame and thereby lessen fire hazards.

Mr. Joe McLean of Edmonton was in town for a trip over the week-end with friends.

This Week in Washington

WASHINGTON.—About once a year somebody starts a rumor that the President's health is failing. The latest report of this sort has stirred up a lot of gossip in Washington and started newspaper men and others to make the most searching inquiries. The net result has been to prove, once more, that there is nothing to the report. The President's health, according to everyone who has facilities for finding out facts, has never been better since he has been in the White House.

Except for a slight head cold, which was cured by his recent sojourn at his mother's home at Hyde Park, there seems to have been no foundation for the rumor of his illness. A member of the National Press Club who circulated the report in the first place has been dismissed from membership in that organization.

The President's recent utterances and acts certainly suggest that his vigor is in no way impaired. His denunciation of the Supreme Court for taking a long vacation, from June to October, where there are important cases pending, is taken as an indication that Mr. Roosevelt has in no way abandoned his purpose of "reforming" the high court. Indeed, he repeated only a few days ago his belief that his proposal to increase the Court by the addition of six justices will be adopted at this session of Congress.

Impartial observers do not believe that is probable, but the President's statement amounted to serving notice on Congress that he has not abandoned his purpose and is willing to compromise. The best-informed opinion here will not come to a vote on the floor of either house at this session. By deferring action, the President's friends in Congress, many of whom are bitterly opposed to his Court plan, will enable him to "save his face" instead of exposing it to the chance of getting slapped.

Revision of Tax Laws

The President's action is pointing out ways which some wealthy men have used to avoid payment of income taxes has opened up the question of revision of the tax laws, which leaders in both houses of Congress have hoped to postpone until next session. Once the subject is taken up for consideration in any phase, the door is opened for almost unlimited discussion. There are scores of "loophole" tax measures which individual Senators and Representatives want to bring forward; but the plan of the leaders is to postpone all of them for consideration by the appropriate committees and to try to work out a complete revision of the whole system of Federal taxation next year.

Another reason why Congress does not want to open the tax subject now is the belief that, given a chance, Senator La Follette of Wisconsin is prepared to demand the broadening of the income tax base to include everyone earning $15 a week or more, and to arouse enough popular pressure behind that idea to force its serious consideration.

The President's proposal for Federal regulation of hours and wages which has been embodied in bills by Senator Black and Representative Connery, marks another step toward the piecemeal restoration of parts of the old NRA. It attempts to do for industries whose products are part of the stream of interstate commerce, what the NRA codes tried to do for practically all industry in the matter of wages and hours.

Unlike NRA this is not an emergency measure and its main purpose is not to promote re-employment. Fundamentally, the Administration hopes by this means to abolish child labor and to put a permanent floor under industrial wages and a permanent ceiling on industrial hours.

The expectation here is that the wage-and-hour legislation will be enacted at this session. There will be material modifications of the bill as introduced, but it is quite likely that a minimum wage of around $15 a week and a maximum working week of 40 hours may be imposed upon all industries whose products enter into the stream of interstate commerce.

Much authority will probably be given the administrative board to authorize deviations from whatever standards are set up in the law, to meet special regional or other conditions. This is of particular interest to Southern members who feel that the problem of Negro labor is one which should be approached with great caution and in which much leeway should be given to local administrators.

The Administration's latest plan for the establishment of seven "regional TVA's" would, in effect make every great river valley into an administrative unit, in which the production and distribution of electric power would be integrated and supervised by a Federal commission, superseding state authorities and effectively putting control of all electric generation and use, and its price to consumers, into the hands

Finding the Lusitania

The Lusitania sank right out there," Harrington, an Irish fisherman, said.

From the cliffs of Old Head of Kinsale, Captain Henry B. Russell looked across the rolling Atlantic to the tomb of the greatest sea tragedy of the war. For weeks his salvage vessel, Ophir, equipped with the most modern location-finding instruments, had searched for it without success. Now a simple fisherman said, "That's the spot, sir!"

In his preliminary work Captain Russell had consulted the sea-stained chart used by Captain Turner of the Lusitania on that fatal May 7, 1915. The master's marginal notes reveal she was steering a zigzag course which ended abruptly at 2:10 p.m. with a laconic entry—"Struck."

An equally laconic vignette of that greatest marine disaster of modern times is sketched by Robert Chisholm, second steward aboard the Lusitania, now chief steward on the Ophir:

"I happened to look over the side and saw a darting white streak. I ran below shouting for everyone to hold fast. The torpedo hit fairly amidships; the ship listed sharply. The second torpedo hit a moment later.

"At my lifeboat station I found that all the boats on the port side had fallen inward. As I hurried back to B deck I passed Alfred G. Vanderbilt vainly attempting to rescue a hysterical woman. I shouted, 'Hurry, Mr. Vanderbilt, or it will be too late!' He did not heed me and both lost their lives.

"I saw a lifeboat with about 10 people in it. There were only three men, the rest were women and children. The lifeboat was heeling over as the Lusitania sank. I jumped into the stern and, with the help of a 14-year-old boy, we got safely down to the water. The torpedoes had smashed the engine and it had been impossible to reverse to stop ship, hence the vessel was still under way and our lifeboat was towed along in danger of being swamped. Finally the boy and I cut the painters and we managed to get clear. The little boat was so heavily loaded that the gunwales were only three inches above water. Fortunately the sea was calm and we were picked up at 6 p.m. by a patrol boat."

Steward Chisholm was among those consulted by Captain Russell of the Ophir, in his first attempts to determine the approximate position of the Lusitania. A hundred people-ships officers, coastguardsmen, the pilot of the German submarine gave him data, and he discovered that if he charted all the ocean with the positions they indicated, it would mean searching an area of 120 square miles, a hopeless proposition. Weeks of cruising over what seemed the most likely spots proved useless. Many wrecks were found by the dragging ledge anchors and the location-finding device but none of the huge bulk of the Lusitania. Then he tried another form of inquiry. In the tragic months when submarine attack was ever threatened, anxious watchers had daily lined the cliffs of Ireland. On the day the Lusitania was passing through the danger zone even the school children were permitted to leave classes and watch. In the opinion of Lieut.-Commander R. H. Dring, a man who knew the whole coast, many of the seafaring men who watched the disaster must have taken bearings on the sinking position.

Commander Dring and Captain Russell chose several villages along the coast, held meetings in the village pub, and spoke with all the men who had witnessed the sinking. One of these witnesses was the fisherman Harrington, and some 50 others were found whose observations seemed reliable. To each the officers put the question: "How do you know the Lusitania sank right out there?" The officers knew that a few faint misstatements from the shore would throw the Ophir far enough out to entail weeks of useless search.

Each witness had a slightly different answer, but the gist of them all was, "Because I was standing near the barn and look a bearing on the corner of Mrs. O'Leary's cottage."

Captain Russell set range finders on the spots where each witness had been standing when the Lusitania sank, and "shot" his bearings. When charted on a map, 12 of these intersected within a single area of one and a half square miles, about 11 or 12 miles off shore. Russell immediately marked this area with buoys and set to work.

Soundings were taken with the Admiralty Depth Recorder, an instrument which sends a sound to the sea bottom and records its returning echo on a graph. If an object, a great rock for instance, rises suddenly, so does the marking on the chart. Further, there is a difference in the reaction of the sound from a solid rock and from the hollow hull of a ship.

After a few days of fruitless search, a marking on the graph suddenly told them they were over some remarkable hollow mass. The instrument recorded that this object was 84 feet high. Over and over again they crisscrossed that spot, checking height and accurately determining length by ranging on a buoy while they slowly steamed from stern to stern of the wreck—780 feet! The Lusitania! Quickly a marker buoy went overboard.

For the next ten days a gale blew, carrying away their buoys. But Captain Russell had taken very careful bearings and in 14 minutes from the second start of the search, his instruments made the same recording. Again had weather, but finally, on October 26, Diver Jarratt went overboard. Down, down he went through the still green waters. Gradually the light grew fainter, the water duller, darker. The danger of getting fouled in the wreck was great. One of the cables on a mooring anchor snapped—a 15-ton pull had done it when the ship heeled to the swell—so Jarratt had little chance if he should foul a foot or drop under a deck in that heaving sea.

The Recorder had shown that the wreck lay in 246 feet of water. When the winchman sang out, "Forty fathoms," they stopped Jarratt. Back up the phone line came his message: "I am standing on the plates of a ship; I can see her two-inch rivets. There is amazingly little sign of corrosion beneath the slime covering the hull."

The rivets of the Lusitania were one and seven-eighths inches in diameter.

Jarratt never got down again. After hopefully battling the worst storm season the Atlantic had known for 50 years the Ophir finally had to give up and steam for harbor.

But they will go back, equipped with a newly invented all-metal, flexible-limbed diving dress which carries sufficient oxygen to last from eight to ten hours and which, in Admiralty trials, has withstood pressures equivalent to a depth of 2000 feet underwater. And this time they will be joined by Captain John D. Craig and his crew of Hollywood Motion Picture Adventurers who will photograph the operations in and about the wreck.

The thoughts of these men are not all for the treasure. They think of the thousand souls who died in the midst of luxury that afternoon in May, and they approach this adventure with awe. And if the remarkable new scientific gear proves successful, we may witness on the screen some of the breath-taking secrets of those sunken decks.

NEWS & VIEWS OF TOWN AND DISTRICT

BORN.—To Mr. and Mrs. J. McKay at the Wainwright municipal hospital on June 26th a boy.

BORN.—To Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Russell, of Jarrow, at the Wainwright municipal hospital on June 27th, a boy.

NO HALF HOLIDAY TODAY OWING TO TOMORROW (THURS.) BEING DOMINION DAY.

Dr. H. L. Courcier was a tripper to Prince Albert by car over the week-end. He reports a pleasant journey.

Mr. J. E. Fish, is in town from his home at Mexico, Mo., U.S.A., on a visit to his nephew Mr. Frank Fish.

Don't forget your car insurance before you leave on that automobile trip you may be planning. Don't take chances; they are costly. See Joe Welch.

Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery of Edmonton were in town on Monday last on business.

Nova Scotia is one province at least where the newspapermen are welcome, according to the hearty invitation received from Premier Angus McDonald to be present at the annual gathering of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper association to be held in Halifax in August.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Washburn are planning to move out to their lake cottage this week-end.

Mr. Hugh Millar is enjoying a visit from his father who arrived from his home in Cardston, Glasgow, Scotland, last week.

We have a big gang now unloading a big shipment of lumber from our sawmills in Alberta and B.C. Let us figure on that building or repairing you are planning. We can save you money. Joe Welch.

It was surely a monstrous lesson which Mrs. John Patterson of Green-shields brought to the Star office on Saturday last. This was one or six which are growing on a tree she has raised for the past several years, and was as large as an ordinary grapefruit.

Mr. Collette of Pabian took home his new Chev. sedan on Saturday last.

Mrs. Hildred and children arrived last week from Saskatoon and is visiting her sister Mrs. Alex. Jury for the summer.

Thirty years ago on Saturday last Mr. Tommy Lane, our genial depot agent, marched up to the altar to say "I will". And despite life's ups and downs he says he's never regretted it yet and enjoys life better than ever!

Mr. and Mrs. L. Mitchell were over to Provost on Sunday with their little son Wesley. Lorne enjoyed a couple of rounds of golf, too.

Now that school is closing today, nearly all the cottagers at Clear lake will be moving out of town to the balmy breezes (if any) of the water-side.

Mr. C. W. McBride made a trip to Prince Albert over the week-end in the company of Dr. Courcier.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Lane are arranging to spend their vacation at the coast commencing this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Hodgins arrived last week-end, and Mr. Hodgins will be in charge of the C.N. repeater station during the absence of Mr. Cal. Mackenzie.

And—School is out and the kiddies are jubilant (until they receive their exam. returns!)
